

The CHAINSAW BUFFET Story

Chainsaw Buffet was founded in 2007 by two guys from the wilds of South Dakota who said to themselves, "Hey, I like the taste of human flesh. Why don't we share that love with the rest of humanity?"

Since its inception in the Chef's basement, Chainsaw Buffet has grown to include franchises in Paris, Milan, and Newark. In addition to our fine in-house dining and take-out brought fresh to your door by morally questionable delivery boys, we also provide high-quality catering for weddings, bar mitzvahs, football games, and other religious events.

The Chainsaw Buffet experience starts in a grungy back alley, where the Chef lures homeless people into the kitchen. After being appropriately tenderized with a wooden mallet, these formerly useless individuals are transformed by the Chef's skilled hands into the finest in cannibal dining. Your entrée is delivered hot to your table, where it is hand-carved by our Maitre d' with his diamond-toothed chainsaw.

In addition to our high-quality food, the Chainsaw Buffet web site offers cut-rate dining on humor, reviews, podcasts, and more, but none of this is really important. You're probably not even reading this anyway.
